INNOVATION and TECHNOLOGY
"Looking Forward to the Future"

INNOVATION

We offer innovative solutions in IP technologies, trademarks and copyrights in consumer and industrial product categories. Many of these products, procured in-house or by outside resources, either via patented inventions, trade secrets and other technologies have a extremely high potential for market success, and are available for manufacturing under a unique licensing arrangement. Our strategic partnerships are made with a win-win philosophy and our clients are valued customers for future business development and a key to our future financial growth.

DEVELOPMENT

We represent a wide variety of manufacturers globally to help reduce the cost and time to market. Most licensed products come with a full portfolio including marketing strategies, packaging and initial costing for value added service and a high rate of market success.

An international technology driven consulting firm offering diversified experience in consumer products, healthcare and industrial applications. We offer patent marketing, licensing and technical consultation. We also provide consultation for technical product specifications, drawings, and model making including production services.
